New York Residences Are Wrecked by the Rapid Transit Tunnel.

FLEE FROM HOMES

Cave-In Gets Beyond Control of the Workmen in Under-Ground Excavations.

EXCITEMENT IS GREAT

New York, March 22.—Handsome residences on the east side of Park avenue, between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets, are falling to pieces as the result of a landslide caused by excavations for the rapid transit subway. The residents have abandoned their homes, fearing total collapse.

The evacuated houses and their occupants are as follows:

No. 49 Park avenue, Anson W. Ward; 51, H. H. Flagler; 53, untenanted, said to be owned by Mrs. Willets; 55, Hall Park McCullough; 57, John J. Murphy; 59, A. W. Devoe; 61, Leroy Dresser and T. W. Burnham; 63, Mrs. E. A. Crawford.

Since Wednesday, when the cave-in began, men have been at work trying to shore up the eastern side of the tunnel, which was falling in. The bottom of the subway is sixty feet below the street level and the tunnel is hewn through solid granite rock.

In spite of all efforts the cave-in continued, and a large portion of rock rolled into the tunnel Friday morning. The cave-in extends for sixty feet along the subway and back to the front walls of the residences.

The land in front of the house of Mr. McCullough was the first to sink Friday morning. The area dropped fifteen feet, and the sidewalk fell through in places. Part of the stoop also dropped into the hole. The McCullough family fled in panic.

While the wreckers were at work at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the front wall of the McCullough house began to drop in big chunks into the excavation, and the wreckers were compelled to flee for their lives. The stoop and the whole front of the first story came tumbling down. Shortly after a portion of John J. Murphy's house next door fell.

From the house 63 the boarders, numbering fully two score and most of them elderly women, hurried. Many had their jewels and such wearing apparel as they could gather wrapped in sheets.

CAMBRIDGE WON THE ANNUAL RACE

London, March 22.—The annual boat race between Oxford and Cambridge today was won by Cambridge by eight lengths.

Cambridge won by five lengths in nineteen minutes and nine seconds. The result was a surprise and betting, before the race was 3 to 1 in favor of Cambridge. Although cold and windy it was Cambridge's race from the start. After crossing the finishing line the Oxford crew collapsed and fell to the bottom of the boat.

NEW FACTOR IN LUMBER MARKET; ADVANCE IN PRICE OF STUMPAGE

The White Pine Output Has Been Extraordinary—Winter Cut in Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota Has Been 240,000,000 Feet

While lumber prices have been soaring upwards, there is another factor that the manufacturer must now consider will take from his profits, and that is the advance in the price of stumpage.

The winter output of white pine has been something extraordinary, and has been depended on to ease up the situation in the spring. It is a little questionable what proportion of the winter output is going to be available for future buyers.

The difference of opinion as to the output for the season of 1902 of the lumbermen say that it is bound to fall below that of 1901, because of the log shortage of the operators, while others say that the 1902 will exceed that of any previous year at the head of the lakes.

H. C. ADAMS WILL RUN FOR CONGRESS

Sent His Resignation as Food and Dairy Commissioner to Gov. Follette Today

Madison, Wis., March 22.—(Special)—H. C. Adams, state dairy and food commissioner, sent his resignation to Governor LaFollette today with the request that it take effect by March 31. At the same time Mr. Adams makes formal announcement of his candidacy for congress to succeed H. B. Dahle. Mr. Adams says that he is the candidate of no faction and that his resignation of his present office is due only to a feeling that it would not be proper for him to become a candidate otherwise.

Report has it that Mr. Dahle will be a candidate for renomination, but he has as yet made no announcement.

PAINTER AND POET DIES AT MERRIMAC

B. I. Durward, One of the Most Picturesque Characters in Wisconsin Has Passed Away.

Baraboo, Wis., March 12.—B. I. Durward, the well-known poet and painter and one of the most unique characters in Wisconsin died at the home of Byron Oderleik in Merrimac at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon of general debility that accompanies old age, which has kept him in a weakened condition for the past year. Had he lived until the 26th of this month he would have been 85 years old and on that day would have occurred his sixtieth wedding anniversary. A wife and four children survive him. The funeral will be held tomorrow at his home, "Durwards' Glen" where he has lived for many years.

Besides being a painter Mr. Durward was a poet. The Glen was introduced to the world in 1871, when he brought forth a volume of poems entitled "Wild Flowers of Wisconsin." Again in 1882 there came a volume called "Poems," and the most pretentious of all, "Columbo," issued from the press in 1889. These volumes have been widely circulated and have given the author a high rank among Wisconsin authors.

STATE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Of these 1,697 applications for male help and 2,431 applications for female help remained unfilled.

FARMER LETS BULL KILL HIS WIFE; TIES WOMAN WHERE BEAST IS KEPT

Red Apron, Rouses Animal, and It Gores Captive—Strange Method of Murder Due to Jealousy—Wife Slain While Husband Plans for Suicide.

Tonawanda, N. Y., March 22.—J. B. Post, a farmer 35 years old, living on the North road, four miles south of this village, bound his wife Amanda to a stake in the bull-pen of his stable this morning. She wore a red calico apron, which aroused a confined bull to frenzy and in its rage the animal attacked the woman and gored her to death.

It is said that Post's act was caused by jealousy of Hiram Coates, a Free Methodist preacher, who lives at Kenmore, half a mile south of the Post farm. Coats had been a frequent caller at the Post farm and had often gone out driving with Mrs. Post. Last night he met Mrs. Post at a prayer meeting at Kenmore, and as the pair were attentive to each other Post quarreled with his wife on returning home.

After killing his wife Post started for the Niagara river, with the supposed intention of casting himself in. He was stopped on the way by his brother Frank, who asked where he was going and why. In his excitement Post was unable to give a satisfactory answer and finally broke down and confessed to his brother.

George Reeves, a rural mail carrier, meanwhile had discovered that all was not as it should be at the Post farm. The doors of the house were open and signs of a struggle were evident in the sitting room. Entering the house Reeves called for Post. Receiving no answer, he went to the barn. In the bull pen he discovered Mrs. Post, with the animal glaring at her corpse.

The ropes which had bound her to the stake had given way under the strain of the bull's going and the woman was lying in a heap. Her face and body were severely mangled.

The fact that he chose to kill his wife by letting the bull loose upon her is explained by some on the ground that a poster picture from "Quo Vadis" on his barn had deeply impressed him.

The community is deeply stirred by the tragedy and there is talk of a lynching.

EIGHT CANDIDATES FOR COMMANDER

G. A. R. Men Who Want to Head the Badger Department in Election Next June.

Although the Grand Army Wisconsin encampment is nearly three months away eight candidates are mentioned for department commander to succeed Allan H. DeGross, whose term expires June 11. This is the largest number of aspirants for the office ever mentioned in the ante-convention gossip. The multiplicity of candidates indicates a lively contest when the department convenes at Stevens Point, June 13.

The candidates mentioned are: Former State Senator P. J. Clawson of Monroe; George Spratt, Sheboygan Falls; Frank A. Copeland, La Crosse; M. A. Snyder, Wausau; W. R. Hoyt, Chippewa Falls; former Senator Earl W. Rogers, Viroqua; Robert Ingalls, Rayfield; and James A. Egan, West Superior. Some of the candidates will come down to the encampment with the endorsement of their local post.

All of the candidates have good military records, some of them bear battle wounds, and each would make an acceptable department commander if elected to the office. It is generally understood that the friends of the veterans proposed shall do the work preliminary to the election, and this is generally done between the time the representatives meet at the encampment city and the time when the election takes place.

PYTHIAN JUBILEE AT AN END

Knights Depart for Home After Viewing Chicago Sight.

Chicago, March 22.—Thousands of Pythians bade farewell to Chicago Friday and returned to their homes in distant parts of the country, carrying with them recollections of the most pleasant and successful convalescence that the order of Knights of Pythias has ever held. All of the morning hours they spent in playing pranks, and the downtown district literally swarmed with the golden-plumed knights, accompanied by their friends in this city, who had turned out to snow them the sights and a royal good time.

A number of delegations left in bodies during the afternoon, and many went as individuals, so that tonight found very few of the guests remaining in the city. No business was transacted and all that was done was of a social nature. Many of the visitors expressed themselves as highly pleased with the reception which they were accorded, and unhesitatingly declared that they hoped Chicago would soon be selected again as the meeting place for the convalesce.

A report will be made during the week to begin the consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill during the morning hour. The time in the house will be devoted to the contested elections and army appropriation bills.

DISPATCHER RACES TEN MILES ON ENGINE TO CORRECT AN ERROR

Averts Train Wreck—Not a Moment to Spare—Gives Two Trains the Right of Way, But Discovers the Blunder in Time.

Indianapolis, March 22.—A mad race with a small switch engine and a fast freight train which had been the right of way and was drawing closer every moment upon another train, which was advancing under similar orders, prevented a wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railway last night.

The dispatcher at Washington gave the fast freight No. 33 at Shooles the right of way over fast freight No. 50, which was at Washington. The order was sent to the relay station and received by the crew of No. 50. After No. 33 had pulled out from Shooles the dispatcher sent another telegram to the relay station, telling the operator to destroy the first order and have No. 50 go east without orders. This put both trains on the track and both crews supposed that they had the right of way.

FRANK HOLT GETS THE FIRST PRIZE

ANNUAL MEDAL CONTEST IN THE HIGH SCHOOL LAST NIGHT.

Winners and Losers of the Different Prizes Highly Complimented by the Judges on the Thoughts Displayed and Their Style of Delivery.

One of the most pleasing and interesting of the events incidental to high school life in our schools was the annual medal contest. This year the contests were for four medals. One given by the Daily Recorder for extemporaneous speaking, a second by A. P. Lovejoy for the best oration, a third by Dr. E. E. Loomis for the best declamation and a fourth by J. L. Mahoney for the best poem.

The contest was held at the high school last evening and it is a pity that every tax payer in Janesville could not have listened to the splendid oratorical efforts of the pupils of the Janesville High school, for we think had they been there, henceforth there would be no complaint about the cost of maintaining our most excellent public schools. Inherent ability, properly directed and developed by Supt. Buell and his corps of efficient assistants, were splendidly reflected by the interesting contest of last evening.

The program opened with a selection by that ever popular and skilled body of musicians, the orchestra from the State School for the Blind. The extemporaneous speaking contest followed, and in announcing it Prof. Buell announced that two subjects were given each contestant to choose from and ponder over for five minutes before coming out to speak. The first speaker was Harry Doran, who chose for his subject "The Assassination of Cuba." Stowe Lovejoy followed with the "Subsidiary Bill" as his subject.

Russell Zeininger spoke of "President McKinley," while Frank Holt took for his subject "Our Policy in the Philippines." He in turn was followed by Miss Libbie Gravlyn, who spoke on "Anarchism." The orchestra then rendered a selection so splendidly that they were obliged to respond to an insistent encore.

The oratorical contest was begun by Stephen Fletcher, whose oration was on "Marquis de La Fayette." Frank Holt followed with an oration on "Alexander Hamilton" and Libbie Gravlyn made a splendid plea for the women in "Honor to Whom Honor is Due." The fourth speaker was Belle MacLean, who spoke of "Ancient Egypt."

This contest was followed by a fine selection by the orchestra.

In the declamatory contest Miss Retta Kimball took for her subject "Old Hickory." Miss Lea Proctor, "Battle of Zanzibar" and Ada Buckmaster, "Mice at Play," while Lucy Biglow followed with "The Death Disk."

The judges had previously decided that Gertrude Scott had written the best poem and she read the poem, which was entitled, "Our Pilgrim Journey."

The judges were J. T. Healy, professor of the Milton Junction High school, Professor Joseph Davis of the Watertown school and Professor Laird of the university of Wisconsin. While the judges were making their decision the orchestra rendered a fine selection, and at the close of the selection, Prof. Laird announced the decisions of the judges and in so doing spoke in words of warm praise of the several contestants, of their mature thought and splendid delivery. He was somewhat surprised at the native ability and the splendid worth of the teachers reflected in the high talent displayed.

The medal for extemporaneous speaking was awarded to Frank Holt with Harry Doran as a close second. In orations, the medal was also awarded to Frank Holt who had an average of 271 points, while Belle MacLean had 270 points. The Professor commended each on the thought displayed and the style of delivery. The medal for declamations was awarded to Retta Kimball.

Prof. Buell then presented the four

SNAKE CHARMING

Is not a popular occupation. Most women shrink from the sight of a snake and would faint at the touch of one. But these same women run greater risks than the snake charmer. How many women allow disease to fasten on them and slowly to crush out their strength.

Womanly diseases should never be allowed to undermine the health. Female weakness, bearing-down pains, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headache, nervousness, and other womanly ailments, curable by medicine, are promptly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I deem it my duty to express my deep, heartfelt gratitude to you for having been the means under providence of restoring me to health," writes Mrs. Oscar Brown, of Oxford, Granville Co., N. C. "For two years I suffered with female weakness, headache, neuralgia in various parts of the system, and after using four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pleasant Pellets,' also 'Lotion Tablets,' and one box of 'Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories,' I am cured."

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept a substitute. The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1000 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps the expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

medals to the victorious contestants who were warmly congratulated by admiring friends. Mr. Frank Holt is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, 7 Prairie avenue. Miss Retta is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Kimball, 151 South Main street and Miss Gertrude Scott is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ceotti of Oak Hill avenue. The prize poem written by Miss Scott was good. The first two of the twelve stanzas are as follows: OUR PILGRIM JOURNEY.

This life is but the prelude To the life that is to come— We are pilgrims who have journeyed, For a time beyond our home; But we have our Father's promise Of the fullness of his love And the boundless depths of mercy— Ever waiting us above.

He has given to His children Blessings that are yet untold— Far surpassing and exceeding All the world has to unfold. All we need to do is listen! Open your eyes and you will see! Hear the harmonies—see the treasures— Freely given to you and me!

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Miss Amella Bingham's special company in Clyde Fitch's new play "The Climbers" which had a remarkably successful run of 200 nights at the Bijou theater, New York, last season will be presented for the first time on Tuesday, April 1 at the Myers Grand. In "The Climbers," Fitch has contributed a satirical picture of New York life of today. The oddity of the funeral opening, with the actors robed in deepest mourning and the revelation in the first act of a

As a play "Ole Olson" lays no claim to being a masterpiece, but is far and away the best of the Swedish dialect series and possesses a peculiar charm. The popular comedian, Ben Hendrickson and his company, will present it at the Myers Grand today, matinee and night, and it is promised that the performance will be in every respect the best this comedy has ever had. A special feature will be offered in the singing of the Swedish Ladies Quartette and numerous specialties will be introduced by Mr. Hendrickson, Edith Fletcher, Gus Mortimore, and others.

FIRST ACT, VILLAGE SCENE IN "HUMPTY DUMPTY."

side of aristocratic life in our great cities shown in an unconventional humorous way, at once rivets the attention of the audience. The remaining acts treat the auditors to even more unconventional phases of theatrical art. "The Climbers" will be presented here by a company of America's noted players and with the original scenic and sartorial production.

Donation parties at the minister's are well remembered by all country in some small villages. It is the only way of paying the poor-hard-worked domestic.

In the "Village Postmaster" there is a most realistic scene showing an old time donation party at the Baptist Minister's in which the unfortunate man gets six or seven pairs of slippers, a live pig and turkey, bags of beans and potatoes and only forty dollars to last till spring. "An' I did want ye to have that shawl Hannah!" he says pathetically to his wife.

Another interesting scene is the threshing day on the farm with an old fashion horse power machine threshing out the wheat. The interior of the village post office and general supply store, with the usual longers sampling the cracker barrel and looking for the cheese, is most faithfully reproduced, and the realistic representation of the interior of the little church, decorated by the village girls for the wedding, might have been brought bodily from Vermont or New Hampshire. In fact, of a recent appearance of "The Village Postmaster" one woman was heard to say, "Why, I went to that church, and I can see older Wiggins standing there in that very pulpit."

"The Village Postmaster" with all its special scenery, properties and old cast, will be produced at the Myers Grand, on Friday, April 18, exactly as represented 227 nights in New York City, and 125 nights in Chicago.

When a new production can achieve a continuous run of 125 performances outside of the metropolis it must possess more than ordinary merit. Yet that is precisely what Willard Somner's new comedy opera, Miss Bob White did in Philadelphia. More not only met with success, but they have deserved it. This has been accomplished by giving a good, clean, up-to-date show, one that ladies and children can witness without having to blush for it. This season the Bad Boy is entirely remodeled and is portrayed by a superb company, composed of some of our best vaudeville talent. Who will render some of the latest specialties and novelties. Including the latest songs and music. The play can be termed an uproarious funny farce. Written for fun only. When properly portrayed, can be considered a very enjoyable evening's pleasure—one worthy of your patronage.

In speaking of Dickson & Mustards "Humpty Dumpty & The Black Dwarf," the Columbus, O., State Journal, says: "Humpty Dumpty & The Black Dwarf" is a grand scenic spectacle on the same scale as Hannon's "Superbia," with a wealth of gorgeous scenery. The characters are those that have always set the children wild; Humpty Dumpty, Old One-Two, Tommy Tucker, Goodie Two-Shoes and all the rest. There are funny clowns, wonderful acrobats, dragons, turtles and dancing sprites. From the birth of Humpty Dumpty to the magnificent transformation, the like of which has never been seen upon the stage, there is a constant kaleidoscope succession of brilliant spectacles and comic incidents, evoking combats and high class specialties. The fun is fast and furious, and keeps the audience in an uproar. It will appear at the Myers Grand, next Monday evening.

PROTECTION FOR THE PRESIDENT

Washington, March 22.—Friday was a field day in congress, three measures of national importance being passed, the senate, by a vote of 52 to 15, passed the committee bill for the protection of the president, and preceded this action by passing without division the bill for the repeal of the war revenue taxes. In the house the rivers and harbors bill was passed, also without a roll call.

The bill for the protection of the president was under discussion during the greater part of the session of the senate. Mr. Patterson made an extended speech in opposition to it. He said that under its provisions a man who had declared in his own house that the president ought to be killed would be found guilty and could be sentenced to a long term of imprisonment. To this he strongly objected.

In reply to an inquiry by Mr. Vest he said he would have no special objection to a provision that would make punishable such declarations or counsel made in a public speech or in public print.

In closing the debate Mr. Fairbanks said: "This bill is inspired by the obvious necessity of throwing about the chief executive additional safeguards so as to render impossible, so far as human wisdom can go, injury to the president, and thereby injury to the government."

All amendments and substitutes were then rejected and the bill was passed.

The revenue bill was passed after only one short speech. Mr. Tillman embraced the opportunity afforded to protest against the repeal of the duty of 10 cents a pound upon tea. The owners of teas now in this country in bond, he said, would get the benefit of the removal of duty to the amount of $9,000,000. All of the amendments proposed to the house bill by the senate committee were agreed to.

The rivers and harbors bill contains the following items of interest to Illinois and her neighbors:

Improving inner and outer harbors at Michigan City, Ind., $63,000.

Improving harbor at Waukegan, Ill., $100,000.

Improving Calumet Harbor, Illinois, authorizing substitution east and west breakwater in place of north and south breakwater, no additional appropriation.

Improving St. Clair Flats Canal in Lake St. Clair, $330,000.

Improving Black river at the mouth and Rouge river, Michigan, $7,500.

Improving middle and west Neeshish channels, St. Mary's river, Michigan, $500,000, and allowing contracts to be entered into for such materials and work as may be required to prosecute said project, not to exceed in the aggregate $4,000,000; St. Mary's river at the falls, $20,000, and a sufficient amount for the completion of the St. Clair Flats canal. Allowance is also made for widening the St. Mary's Flats canal above the locks.

Improving Grand river, Mich., $125,000.

Improving Fox river, Wis., $70,000, of which $5,000 shall be used in dredging Calumet harbor and further improving the Stockbridge harbor of refuge, and $10,000 shall be used to improve Wolf river, Wis., and Miller Bay, Lake Winnebago.

Improving Wabash river, Indiana and Illinois, below Vincennes, $5,000.

Improving Illinois river, Illinois, $75,000.

Protest From Union Labor.
Washington, March 22.—Union labor made it clear that it is opposed to the amended anti-injunction bill now pending. ..PLUMBING..

THIS SPRING?

If you are going to build, or if the plumbing in the old house needs renewing, great care should be exercised in the decision as to who does the work. After the pipes are in and covered up it is a poor time to discover the cold fact that the work was inferior.

The best way absolutely to remove all doubt is to give the contract to a firm who has demonstrated their knowledge in everything pertaining to plumbing and its branches. Our list of satisfied customers is a long one—many of the largest and most difficult contracts in the city were completed with our force of experts. Glad to tell you more about it, and pleased to explain the new ideas in house plumbing if you will call.

EVERY MAN TO HIS WORK.

The soldiers' monument in the Court House park, has been the object of more than usual interest, during the process of erection. As the massive sections were being prepared, the remark was very common, "Well, I don't see how they can handle a stone like that." When the main shaft weighing 33 tons was exposed and preparations were making to swing it into place, many people were skeptical but there was one man in the crowd who had charge of the delicate work, who never lost his head, or questioned for a moment his ability to complete the task. Under his intelligent direction the work progressed and when the monument was completed, the artisan was forgotten.

Every man to his work means accomplishment in every department of toil and endeavor. It is always refreshing to watch a man who, thoroughly understands the work in hand, and who possesses confidence in his own ability to carry it to successful completion. The world has use for this class of men, and they are always in active demand.

It is well for humanity, that some of the ranks are not crowded, that every department is represented by men who are masters of the situation, and under their skillful direction the world moves forward with steady stride. While this is an independent age, it is also an age of dependency, and the great industries, the great commercial enterprises, as well as the great developments in the world of art and science, are all dependent upon individual ability to do some one thing well.

Visit the hold of a battle ship and you will notice that every fireman and engineer is a master artisan. They possess not only the muscle and physical endurance for hard work, but the intelligence so necessary to faithful service, and there is never any uncertainty about performance of duty. On the bridge is the sailing master. He has no knowledge of engines and machinery, but he has studied the ocean in all its varying moods, until he is able to read it as an open book. The ship would be lost without him, and it would be in equal peril with less skillful men in the hold. A dependency of talent that is recognized on sea and land.

Go through the manufacturing department of a great industry, and in every room will be noticed men, who thoroughly understand the work in hand. It may seem unimportant as compared with the finished product. Every part of a perfect machine, must be a perfect part, and the man who turns out the perfect parts, however insignificant they may appear, is the skillful workman.

In the office the superintendent taxes brain and mental ability to keep pace with the times. Back of him is the capital necessary to handle the business successfully. A mutual dependency pervades the place. If the capital weakens, disaster follows. If the heads of departments are incompetent, losses result. If employees become restless and dissatisfied, disturbances are created, and the business is paralyzed. Capital cannot take the place of brains and muscle. It is helpless without hearty co-operation of both, but muscle and brains can create capital, and they seldom fail in honest effort along this line, when every man is willing to adopt as his motto, "Every man to his work, and then faithfully perform it."

There is a large class of people who have never discovered their individual work. People who are satisfied to drift with the tide, because it is easier than to stem it. In every trade and profession, there are men and women, who are time servers, and space fillers. If they become dissatisfied and leave a situation, they are never missed, because their places can be readily filled.

These conditions exist, not because of lack of opportunity, nor because the ranks of skilled artisans are overcrowded. There is demand today in every department of work for the best talent that the world can produce. In the journalistic and publishing field there is a scarcity of young men who possess the peculiar ability to grasp situations, and get to the front. This is true of the industrial and commercial world. Men who are thoroughly equipped for their work, and to the extent that when responsibility is forced upon them they are ready to assume it and competent to meet it.

There are millions of idle capital today, waiting for investment, to discover men who are prepared for their work and who possess the ability to make money with money.

There are a few things necessary to success, in preparation for the highest efficiency, and every young man can afford to cultivate them. The foundation to attainment in any line of work, however humble it may be, is absolute honesty, and this principle is just as important for the boy in the shop when he commences to learn a trade, as for the boy in the bank or behind the counter. It is easier to steal time than money, and the habit is readily formed.

Honesty is only one of many virtues that contribute to success. Faithfulness is just as important, and ambition can never be overlooked. The young man who lacks ambition, and who is not genuinely faithful, will never occupy a place near the front.

The associations of life and the habits formed have very much to do with success. Many young men overlook the important facts that the business world is keeping close tab on them, and that with every cigarette and social glass the opportunities of life are weakened.

Having a jolly good time with the boys, in what seemed an innocent pleasure, has sealed the fate of many a boy before he is twenty-one, and the loss sustained is irreparable.

Every man to his work means that there is work for every man. It means more than that if analyzed in the bright light of opportunity.

There has never been a time in history when the outlook for young men was so inviting. The development of science and discovery is constantly opening up new fields and many of them are waiting today for young men to equip themselves and occupy them. Self reliance, based on a knowledge and ability to perform, is a watchword to success and these requirements are within the grasp of every young man who enjoys the high privilege of living at the opening of the brightest century that the world has ever known.

The monument in the park was chiseled from granite, and put in position by men who knew their work. The granite was laid away in the hills when the world was new by a Creator whose knowledge and ability are infinite.

This same Creator endowed humanity with body, mind and spirit, and out of this trinity is made possible the highest measure of success. The resources, like the granite hills, are limitless, and the "well done thou good and faithful servant" is the tribute that crowns the highest destiny of human attainment.

THE CITY TICKET

The republicans have placed in nomination a ticket, that should command the united support of the party. James A. Fathers who heads the ticket for the office of City Treasurer, is one of the best officials that has ever served the city in this capacity. He will be elected by an old time majority.

Stanley B. Tallman who received the nomination for city attorney is a young man in every way worthy of support. The office has long been used as a stepping stone for young attorneys, and will continue to be until the salary is made an object.

W. S. Jeffris for school commissioner-at-large is a good nomination. The school board is an important organization and the work in hand for the coming year requires intelligent and careful management. Mr. Jeffris is a good commissioner and should be re-elected.

Jesse Earle is a capable justice and entitled to liberal support. The ward tickets are strong and with E. W. Lowell from the First ward and Dr. Jas. Mills from the Second, the council will be infused with new blood.

Three hundred medical and dental students in the Omaha colleges covered themselves with blood and glory in a free-for-all fight the other day. The medicals can get sewed up in a class of clinics but the dentists appear to be out in the cold. The boys might better save their talent to fight microbes.

Hettie Green, the wealthy New York woman has been a noted character for many years, but no one ever knew that Hettie had a husband until his death was announced a few days ago. Mr. Green was as much of a cipher in the household as was David Nation of Kansas. Some men slip through life very easy.

General Miles is in a fair way to discover that he is not the whole thing even in the army. While he is an efficient officer and an expert in canned beef, he appears to have overlooked the fact, that the President is the commander-in-chief.

The city of Milwaukee is discovering that funds have been diverted from legitimate channels, and the Rose administration is not above sharp criticism. Major Anson is a business man and if elected, the city will enjoy a clean and wholesome administration.

The attitude of the Recorder on the Kindergarten question is so untenable that it does not amount to an argument. It requires but little effort, and limited calibre to be an obstructionist, but there is neither glory nor profit in the occupation, and public journals do not usually engage in it.

While factional strife did not enter into the city campaign Mr. Cunningham's defeat was largely due to the unwise support of some of his friends. There is but little republican sympathy in the city for radicalism.

Senator Hawley says he would give $1,000 for a shot at an anarchist. That furnishes an opportunity for some red-handed representative to sell his life for more than glory.

PRESS COMMENT.

Beloit Free Press: There seems to be a lull in the abuse slung at Senator Whitehead by certain parties because he wasn't a "dead game all-around sport." It is more than likely the discovery has been made that the great mass of the citizens of Wisconsin are not looking for that kind of a man to put in the Executive Chair any more than they are anxious to have that chair filled by a man who is "biggame Grant."

Milwaukee Sentinel: Since Governor LaFollette has declared it his purpose to make primary election the paramount issue, it will be necessary for Colonel Hicks and Dr. Wilder to hold another conference in Milwaukee. The getting together of these two gentlemen to settle the opinions of the governor will be watched with considerable interest.

No amount of "knocking" an industry of this or any other city ever did or ever will result in bettering that industry in this or any other city; and those who persist in doing it might as well be written down now as the worst enemies of those who are striving for better things.—La Crosse Republican and Leader.

Oshkosh Northwestern: In spite of Col. Bryan's defeats in the field of politics it is evident that he still possesses a keen sense of humor. During his recent trip to the east, he was elected an honorary member of the New York Press club and, when informed of the fact he is said to have remarked: "Well, I am certainly glad to be elected to something—and in New York, too!"

Grant Co. Herald—Employees on many of the railroads are forbidden to use tobacco in any form. The day is coming when a railroad man's card will open the door for him in any church and no embarrassing questions will be asked.

Racine Journal: Senator Spooner is receiving general congratulation for his vote against the ship subsidy bill and for his amendment serving notice congress is liable to repeal it at any time.

Who made Milwaukee? "I," says Dave Rose, in his well-fitting clothes, "I made Milwaukee." That is the Democratic city platform, boiled down.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Late Indeed. If the words of each one were always taken literally, the result might sometimes be quite startling. The New York Herald tells an instance where we can hardly blame the party for doing as he did.

The chairman of the lecture committee of a literary society sat restlessly on the stage before a large and waiting audience, wondering why the expected lecturer did not arrive. Finally, he felt that some sort of an excuse was necessary, and stepping to the footlights, said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I regret this delay and am unable to account for the absence of Professor Smythe, who was to lecture here tonight. He told me that he would be on time if he was alive, and, as he is not here, we must conclude that he is dead. Just then the professor rushed on the stage all out of breath. 'Ladies and gentlemen,' continued the chairman, 'allow me to introduce to you the late Professor Smythe, who will now address us on The Inferno.'—Boys World.

GRANT AT Donelson

Battle and Triumph.
Feb. 15, 1862.

(Copyright, 1902, by G. L. Kilmer.)

FIGHTING at Fort Donelson began with the attack of the Federal warships upon the Confederate water batteries. It ended with a brilliant charge by Grant's infantry, which decided the day. The fort stood on high ground, some of it 100 feet above the river, and covered about 100 acres. Upon each flank of the army's approach there was a creek filled with backwater. Across the gap between the two streams Grant deployed his force of over 27,000 men in three divisions. General J. A. McClernand held the right, General Lew Wallace the center and General C. F. Smith the left.

The navy, under Flag Officer Foote, was counted upon to repeat at Donelson its effective work at Fort Henry. Four ironclads were on hand—the Carondelet, St. Louis (flagship), Louisville and Pittsburgh. The army got in position before the works on the 12th of February, and on the 13th the Carondelet opened the bombardment from the safe berth of two and a half miles. Only one of the 200 shots fired damaged the fort. It was next to the last shot fired that day and entered an embrasure, disabling one gun and killing the Confederate chief of artillery, Captain Dixon. One shot pierced the Carondelet, but did but little damage. On the 14th the ships steamed up to within 400 yards, and the combatants on both sides were bent upon a test of guns and mettle. The onslaught by Foote's guns was terrific, and the gunners in the water batteries of the fort began to desert their pieces. Then in an instant all was changed. A solid shot tore through the pilothouse of the St. Louis, killing the pilot and destroying the wheel. Flag Officer Foote was wounded by the side of the pilot. Another shot wounded the pilot of the Louisville and cut the tiller ropes.

Both injured ships dropped out of the fight, covered by the Carondelet and Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh soon turned about, badly cut up, and the Carondelet faced the batteries alone for a time. The highest gun of the enemy's water battery was in charge of a boy of the name of Fregan. War was fun to the last, and when he saw the confusion among the Federal ships he said to his mates, "See me take the tallest chimney." The chimney came down and with it the flag, and Fregan shouted: "Come on! You are not at Fort Henry!" He landed a shot in a porthole of the Carondelet, and the entire fleet backed off out of range.

The Confederates, jubilant over the easy repulse of the gunboats, sent a telegram to Richmond announcing a great victory. It was soon followed by one telling a different story, although Grant retired to his blanket that night thinking he would have to begin a long siege. The troops had no shelter, and it was intensely cold. The soldiers had recklessly thrown away their overcoats the terrible volleys which greeted his column from the fort and from the rifle pits in front. He captured the outer lines of pits and held on in the face of a Confederate division which attempted to beat him off.

Under the cover of Smith's charge up to the fort Lew Wallace sent forward to the captured Charlotte road the demibrigade led by Colonel Morgan L. Smith. There were but two regiments in the column—the Eleventh Indiana, known as "Wallace's zouaves," and the Eighth Missouri. Both regiments had been trained as skirmishers. After explaining to the men the desperate nature of the task Wallace told them to be governed by circumstances. His words were drowned by their cheers and cries of "Forward! Forward!"

As the skirmishers advanced up the slope the Confederates opened from a forest in front a terrible rifle fusillade. The zouaves and Missourians spread their line until it covered the whole battle front. Volleys were fired over their heads into the main line of battle following at a distance. Soon the enemy's skirmishers were encountered, and then commenced a savage bush fight lasting an hour. It was every man for himself.

Knowing the field well, the Confederates made a citadel of every tree and rock. Often antagonists took shelter behind the same object. Upon nearing the crest Wallace's men began firing steadily, and before the supports got well engaged the Confederates fell back to their intrenchments. Just then an order reached Wallace to suspend the attack; but, believing he had the wedge well in, he ignored the order and pushed the skirmishers forward to the Charlotte road again, cutting off the way of escape. His men bivouacked within 150 rods of the enemy's guns, lying on their arms ready for the expected counter assault. Grant retired the night of the 15th believing that the Confederates must surrender next day or be captured in their works. The battle for the army had been more desperate than that of Shafter's corps at San Juan Hill and El Caney July 1, 1898. The troops had lost over 2,800 killed and wounded and the navy 54 in all.

McClernand's battle had been the most costly of the day in losses. The Confederate attack on Grant's right, held by McClernand's division, had been planned the night of the 14th, after the repulse of Foote's gunboats and while Grant was debating the question of a protracted siege. The plan of the Confederates in springing the attack was to throw 10,000 men upon McClernand and rush through the broken lines to freedom. All night the columns were getting into position to spring forward at daybreak. A heavy storm prevailed, and the Federal pickets kept a light watch.

By the middle of the forenoon McClernand's line was in confusion. One by one his brigades and regiments were forced back, and at 11 o'clock the Charlotte road was uncovered. The Confederates lost heavily in these chance encounters, but the number of casualties could never be learned. Artillery on both sides maintained a savage fire, and now and then the fierce "rebel yell" told of a victorious charge. For some unexplained reason the Confederates did not take advantage of the surprise which meant escape to them. It was claimed that after capturing Charlotte road Pillow's men were ordered back to their intrenchments, and before the ground lost could be regained Grant was on the field pushing the attack from his side. The Confederate soldiers had suffered from the cold more, perhaps, than their foemen. In the fireless, cramped quarters of the fort they had no chance for exercise. The ground was newly frozen after a rain and was covered with ice and snow.

There was division in the Confederate councils even at the moment when victory was in their grasp. General Buckner, the third in rank, was a good fighter. The second in command, Pillow, did the work cut out for him in opening the road of retreat, but immediately began to ignore his chief. Floyd, who was in supreme command, Grant estimated that the enemy had on the start over 20,000 troops.

General C. F. Smith fought his last battle at Donelson. He was a native of Pennsylvania and had served with Taylor in Mexico, winning laurels at Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma. He died soon after Donelson as the result of exposure in the campaign. Smith had been a character in the old army. When told, in 1861, that he was accused of disloyalty, he said, "Never mind; they'll take it back after the first battle."

There was another Wallace besides General Lew at Donelson. This was Colonel W. H. L. Wallace, who led a brigade. He was noted for his coolness, especially during the excitement over the broken line of battle. John A. Logan was also a fighter at Donelson, and his voice could be heard above all the tumult of cannonade and "rebel yells."

BELOIT MARSHAL BLUFFS THE PUGS

Dog Fight and a Mill Scheduled for Beloit Last Night, Were Not Pulled Off.

There was a crowd of disappointed sports in Beloit last evening when they found out that the dog fight would not come off. Sports from Chicago, Belvidere, Sycamore, Rockford, Freeport, DeKalb and Janesville gathered in Beloit last night to witness the fight between two dogs from Freeport and Belvidere.

Marshall Appleby got onto the fact that the fight would be pulled off and so telephoned the district attorney, Mr. Jackson, who gave him instructions to arrest any of the men who had fighting dogs in their possession. He at once went to work and notified all of the saloon keepers in regard to what the district attorney had told him and that they must not have anything to do with the fight.

The gang then determined to pull the fight off over in the state of Illinois. Appleby had expected this and had telephoned to Rockford for deputies in Illinois and they were lying in wait for the coming of the fighters.

The leaders got wind of the fact that Appleby had fixed things to make it warm for them and gave up the idea of pulling off the match. They were around Beloit this morning until three o'clock when the most of them got out on a freight. They threatened to have the fight tonight at Rockford but the Illinois deputy sheriffs are keeping close watch on their movements and will pull the bunch if they attempt to have the fight.

In connection with the dog fight Johnny Thompson, called the "Sycamore Cyclone" and Billy Reid of Freeport were to have a finish fight. Both men were in fine condition for the go but the bluff put up by Appleby was too much for them and the fight was called off. A number of the Janesville sports who went to Beloit to see the fun are pretty sore over being beaten out of their fun.

MISS ELLEN STONE TO BE AT DELAVAN

The Program for the 1902 Assembly Announces Her Presence and Her Story.

The program for the Delavan Lake Assembly for 1902 has been very nearly completed. Three or four lecture dates are still open, and another musical aggregation for a concert number is yet to be secured. The program, as a whole, will be the best ever presented at Delavan Lake.

Only last week the committee solved the most difficult problem, that of securing a strong attraction for the opening number, by engaging Miss Ellen M. Stone, the intrepid missionary whose experience among the Bulgarians has been the great world sensation for the past few months. Miss Stone and her companion, Madame Telika, were captured September third, while making a trip through the mountains of Bulgaria, and were held captive nearly six months before their release was finally effected.

The whole affair is now considered a political plot to aid in freeing Macedonia from the oppression of the heartless Turk. Miss Stone's account of her capture and captivity, of conditions and customs in Bulgaria and Macedonia will be intensely thrilling and fascinating. This, coupled with the natural desire of everyone to see the woman who was the subject of so much newspaper comment, will doubtless draw an immense crowd for the opening day. Miss Stone's address will be on the afternoon of Wednesday July 30th.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Sealed bids will be received by the Village of New Glarus, Wis., until April 4th at 2:30 p. m. for the laying of water mains, setting hydrants, valves and other accessories of the pipe line and for the construction of a concrete reservoir 14 feet deep by 25 feet in diameter. Plans may be seen at the clerk's office. Contractors are requested to look over the ground before building. All bids should be addressed to Mr. S. A. Schneider, President of the Village Board. The village reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
JACOB FIFE, Village Clerk.
W. G. KIRCHOFFER, Engineer.

In Circuit Court
The Ludie Milling Co. assignment was up for a hearing in the circuit court today. Judge Dunwiddie disallowed the claim of D. D. Tolman, trustee in bankruptcy. The Phillips claim was withdrawn and the balance of the claims allowed without interest.

In Burgess vs. Rudolph on order to show cause why the complaint should not be amended was put off until the 27th.

Committee Has Raised $2,500
The committee in charge of the subscriptions for the Cement Post company has already raised over $2,500 and are almost certain that they will have no trouble in raising the balance so that the works are at least an assured thing. The committee have had quite a number of voluntary donations to the enterprise and almost every man approached has given more or less to get the works located here. A factory of this kind employing one hundred hands is quite a lift for Janesville and should be secured at once.

Y. M. C. A. Afternoon Meeting
The usual Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building will be held tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock. Good music will be furnished and Rev. R. M. Vaughan, pastor of the First Baptist church, will speak on the subject of "Wages." All men in the city are cordially invited.

Polo Game
The Royals of Riverdale park tied the Sigma Vada club in a game of polo this morning. Score 5 to 5.

Used With Care.
Every business man who buys advertising space does it merely because he wants to make something out of that space. He is satisfied to pay a given price so long as he can make a little more than that price out of the space. He is willing to use energy, brain and cash in order to insure the best results from his investment.

There is no doubt but that his use of these features will result in his financial benefit if he is wise in his expenditure. The advertisement that is prepared by a man who is careful not only in the buying of space but also in the using of it will be one which will attract attention and which will gain for the man all he might expect in the way of returns.—Printers Ink.

Take Your Choice.
Senator Spooner may not be in accord with La Follette on the matter of the Stevens bill and for this reason possibly may be subject to the opposition of those who look up La Follette as more important than Republicanism, but he is in accord with the great majority of Republicans who believe in the principles of the party.

As an exponent of those principles, Senator Spooner represents the ideas of Republicans, while La Follette only represents the views of occasional individuals who look upon the party as a piece of personal machinery to be used for their political advancement. When it concerns broad statesmanship as well as a broad knowledge of the questions confronting Republicanism than La Follette. He is also a safer and truer leader, without personal whims or ideas to ventiliate. He may not be so successful as an agitator, but he is better able to represent the Republicanism of Wisconsin.—Hurley Republican.

MAKES A PLEA FOR KINDERGARTEN; JUSTICE TO THE POORER CHILDREN

Hopes the Board of Education Will Be Unanimous in Establishing a School for Small Children.

In answer to the article headed "No Pads for Schools" in this morning's Recorder, the writer of this letter leaves to differ with the sentiment and also to prove that the Kindergarten is not a bad but a very necessary department to have in all public schools, also that it is a pure matter of justice to the poorer classes of people who are the ones to be most benefited.

In the first place the Kindergarten will take care of the poor woman's children allowing her to do her work and very often earn a little towards their maintenance with the feeling that her little ones are in good hands so she need not worry about them whilst she is away working.

And secondly, it is an acknowledged fact that the kindergarten training means that a child is quicker to learn and understand when they enter the grades and their education is after life is far easier on account of the good foundation laid during their babyhood in the Kindergarten department.

Now why should not the poor class of people have their little ones cared for at the public expense just as much as they should be obliged to pay their share of the school taxes when not ten per cent of their children ever get the advantage of the high school for the simple reason that necessity knows no law and if they manage to sustain their children until they have passed through the grades they have given them as much education as they can possibly afford.

Also the poor have to pay their share of the state fund for the State University and I think I can with confidence state that although they are taxed for the maintenance of the State University that their children are not among the class of students who get the benefit of this higher education.

I beg leave to state that if the Recorder states that they would like to be the champion of the poorer class it had far better agitate the abolishing of the state tax for the University than the poor help to pay but never receive any benefit from and advocate the Kindergarten department in the public school where the poor would receive some benefit for the taxation that they have to do their share to meet.

This in my opinion would be more like justice to put the polishing touch on their children's education by sending them to the University could do so at their own expense and not at the expense of their poorer neighbor. And after the University graduate returns home he would have more excuse for what is called the swelled head than they have at present when they come to consider that the best they can call their university education is an education at the poor taxpayer's expense.

I sincerely hope that the school board will be unanimous in their decision regarding Kindergarten departments for the Janesville Public Schools so that the poor can make the rich help pay for their children's education and not always have the cart before the horse by making the poor pay everything for the rich and get nothing in return.

S. TERAUD.

RAILROAD NOTES

This week's homeseeker movement has surprised the railway men. On account of the big storm it was thought that at the best but a few hundred homeseekers would start for the northwest, but this was not the case.

A continuous steel rail 500 feet long is being experimented with on the Michigan Central railroad. Because of heat expansion and cold contraction experts long ago pronounced the continuous rail a failure.

The recent rapid rise in the stock of the Chicago and North Western, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and other western roads has been prolific in bringing out numerous reports of new railroad combinations and consolidations. The report that the Rock Island and the Chicago and North Western would be consolidated has been dashed up in a dozen different styles, and some of these stories included the Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Chicago Great Western, and the Wisconsin Central. There has been no other foundation for these reports than the large boom in their stocks, and the general opinion here is that all these reports emanate from Wall street and are spread for the purpose of inducing the public to buy railroad stocks which are generally considered to heavy at the present time.

The Milwaukee road has decided to build extensive yards for its cars a mile and a half north of Iron Mountain, Mich. Four tracks, each 1,500 feet in length, will be put in with a capacity of 500 cars. This will do away with the running of cars through the city, which has been greatly complained of.

There are indications that the general passenger agents of the railroads of the country have practically decided to drop their long-continued persecutions of ticket scalpers on the ground that the brokerage business is all but dead.

A YOUNG CHICAGO GIRL

Saved from Ruin and Despair by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lillie E. Sinclair's Letter and Portrait Here Published to Lead Other Sick Girls to Be Cured.

Is there anything more truly pathetic than the cry for health that springs from the anguished heart of a young girl, — a beautiful girl who goes ahead only suffering and uncertainty?

But O, what joy and gladness her young heart pours forth when she realizes that her deadly enemy is gone, — banished forever.

This sunshine and joy is now the happy portion of Miss Lillie Sinclair of Chicago, whose letter and portrait we herewith publish.

She often tells of her suffering and pain so excruciating, — the doctors instead of removing the cause of her ailment prescribed stimulants, and her letter which follows will tell her own story, and should be read by every young lady in the land, for it is a true and heartfelt statement from a young lady, who believes it to be her duty, not only to Mrs. Pinkham, but to all young girls, to tell what has been done for her so that some other poor sufferer may be induced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be restored to health as she was.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free.

MISS LILLIE E. SINCLAIR,

President Women's Century Bicycle Club, Chicago, Ill.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved and that all pains left me and I was my old self once more. I can ride fifty and one hundred miles on my wheel, can run, jump and enjoy outdoor life, as I am in perfect health; thanks to you. Yours very truly, LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago, Ill."

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure one woman—why not you—you cannot tell until you try it. If you are ill, and really want to get well, commence its use at once, and do not let any drug clerk persuade you that he has something of his own which is better, for that is absurd. Ask him to produce the evidence we do.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

NEW HEADLIGHT HAS MANY CRITICS

Tests at Many Places on the St. Paul Road—Men Are Divided in Their Opinions.

The Milwaukee road has sent circular letters to the engineers on the Chicago division and most of those on the other divisions that run out of Milwaukee asking their opinions on the efficiency and general desirability of the electric headlight. Some of the men have replied favoring it as a splendid light that gives a good view of the right of way, some that it will be a good light when it is perfect and some that it is too strong and does not fill the bill. Some think that the time is coming when there will be no lights on engines on busy runs, but that the right of way will be lighted like a street. Those who talk of the light being perfected call attention to the many failures of the new light and one of them remarked that when an engine with an electric light comes in with a smoky lantern set up in place of the light, as the 920 did a few mornings ago, it is time to perfect the apparatus. Some of the engineers say that the sky ray on the new light is an excellent thing on a single track, but on no account on a double track as an engineer seeing a light coming around a curve would naturally think that it was on the proper track and go ahead unless it was going his direction or away off the time of any train. In these cases, of course, the light would be worth investigating. As usual with these new inventions, the men are divided on their opinions, and the bulk are against the innovation.

Some humors are inherited; others are acquired, commonly through derangements of the digestive organs.

Whether inherited or acquired, they are radically and permanently removed by ore and the same medicine, and that is
